That's What Rev. Father Cotter Denominates Catholic Press.

His Inspiring Words at Recent Catholic Federation Banquet.

Its Building Is More Important Than the Rearing of Basilicas.

BOUNDARIES OF ITS USEFULNESS

Among the many able addresses at the National Catholic Federation at Columbus, Ohio, one of the most inspiring was that delivered by the Rev. James H. Cotter, LL. D., of Ironton, the chief editorial writer of the Buffalo Catholic Union and Times. Dr. Cotter, who is a big, brainy, portly man, with a mellow voice and delivery that commands attention, said in part:

As controversy is furthest from my purpose, I will not discuss why the Catholic weekly is straightjacketed in its work, nor will I question the efficiency of the press in a restriction of periodicals, nor touch on the proposed financial and editorial greatness arising from a centralizing of scattered forces; nor will I give thought to the need of the Catholic daily, until greater warrant is given for the success of the periodical. Controversy is not intellectual paper where to digest good dinner so I will confine my thought to a consideration of the power of the Catholic newspaper, and regard the one (and to my mind the only) means of extending the boundaries of its usefulness.

The love for journalism of his great predecessor (who declared that a Catholic paper is a perpetual mission in the family) has been repeatedly expressed by the present glorious Pontiff. The power of the press is shown by the Papal exhortation, accompanied by the Holy Father's blessing, sent this Federation in Buffalo. Encouragement, kindred to the Holy Father's, has been often given by the great Archbishop of the world.

With croziers that are Belgium and Germany as my guides, because of the Pope's, and to France and Portugal as failures, where the service of the press was ignored. Bowing to the pulpiter who brings the people nearer their affairs, I would dare say that in the hope and in the force of its purpose, the building of the press is more important than the rearing of basilicas. Let infamous policies destroy the buildings, turn them from their designs, desecrate them, and while our thoughts and feelings are outraged, the faith built in our hearts, according to the plans and specifications of the Great Architect, Christ, loses nothing, but rather gains in intensity through indignation. Willing hands and generous gifts will rectify the material disasters and glorify God in new sacrifices parenting new shrines; but destroy the faith and all is lost, for men's minds are arid as the Sahara's sands, men's souls stand hopeless and raceless before heaven, with not even the ivy of hope clinging to them or a touch of poetry enhancing them—repulsive ruins, symbols of despair.

What is it that our press would safeguard? Our faith, the crown jewels of the Eternal King Himself, divine truth! Our faith, for ourselves, our all, for our fathers' treasure, love of which they wrote in the sacred rubrics of their life's blood! Without faith man would be heretic of knowledge that explains life and solves death; with faith he reaches out his hand for certain and salutary truths, and transfused by the truth, he knows the voice of God and with reason claims admission. Our faith, the inspiration of art and architecture, literature, music and all the graces of learning. Our faith, the reason of science, for the lights of faith are lamps in the inner temple of knowledge where ever it velled and voiceless wonders. What is true of religion must be true in every department of mind, for the truths of the coal-pit cry credo to the tenets of the pulpit. Our faith, the glory of history, the sustaining force of history, the sustaining force of our wonderful republic, the rich ornament of this poor world, the unerring guide to a better one.

And the greatest agency of preserving the faith is the Catholic press. It keeps abreast of progress, notes this very hour of movements, the varying strategies, the assaults of the enemy, and checkmates him with Napoleonic speed. The writer of books moves slowly; the editor quickly, as he selects the pointed period to meet the strain of battle. In the balls of heresy, the Catholic paper is a silent though eloquent witness of the truth—a splendid expression of virtue in the very haunts of sin; it can go and stay where the preacher dare not stand. It is out in the rumble and tumble of life, contending for the right, upholding the truth, closing on theories foul with immorality, impudent with heresy, arrogant with atheism.

SUMMER SCHOOL.

Though the delightful weather conditions prevailing at present at the Catholic Summer School make it possible for those summering in the vicinity of Pittsburgh to return in comfort to New York, Brooklyn and the other large cities, still many are loathe to leave hurriedly for another year environments so pleasing, a neighborhood so charming.

The ninth week of the lecture course was opened by Rev. N. C. Flannery, LL. D., of Brooklyn, who on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings discussed "Christian Platonists of the Early Church." Rev. William Martin, S. T. L., of New York City, on Thursday and Friday delivered lectures on "American Prose Literature in Form and Substance." The evenings were given over to James J. Walsh, M. D., LL. D., of New York, his subject being "The Church and Hospital Work."

BISHOP GUNN.

First Catholic Prelate to Be Consecrated in Georgia.

With much ceremony and impressive solemnity, Father John E. Gunn, pastor of the Sacred Heart church of Atlanta, was on Tuesday consecrated as Bishop of Natchez of the Catholic church. Archbishop Bleck, of New Orleans, and six Bishops, assisted by thirteen other ecclesiastics, performed the consecration, and thirty priests, representing the parishes of the South, responded in the intonations of the mass. This was the first instance in which a Bishop of the Catholic church has been consecrated in Georgia.

The color and detail of the ritual furnished an outward form unique among religious ceremonies. Women in the congregation wore mantillas of various hues. Assistant priests were clad in black gowns and white surplices, while the consecrating prelate wore purple. The Bishop-elect, in evidence of the purity with which he enters into his office, was clothed in white. Bishops were clad in full pontificals and the Archbishop, mitred and aced, was vested in all the magnificence of his office.

The consecration began shortly after 9 and ended at 6. It was entirely in Latin with the exception of the sermon preached in English by Bishop Kieley, of Savannah.

After the ceremony, the new Bishop entertained the visiting clergy at dinner. At night he held a public reception at the Sacred Heart church, during which he was presented with a $5,000 purse subscribed principally by members of the parish.

Bishop Gunn succeeds the late Right Rev. Thomas Heslin, his appointment having been made by Pope Pius on June 29 last. He was ordained in Rome on August 24, 1884, and for several years he taught in the Marist House of Studies in Washington. He came to Atlanta as pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart in 1889 and President of Marist College, which he founded. It was unofficially announced that Father George Rapier, now President of the Marist College, would succeed Bishop Gunn as Superior of the Catholic community in Atlanta, and that Father J. J. Gulman would become pastor of the Sacred Heart church.

SPIRITED DEBATE

Called on Account of Time at Division Four's Meeting.

Division 4, A. O. H., met in regular session at Bertrand Hall Monday evening and held one of the liveliest sessions of its long career, which was much enjoyed by the good attendance present. A subject pertaining to the welfare of every member of the order was up for discussion and was thrashed out in some very spirited debates. President Hennessy calling a ball on account of the late-ness of the hour and referring it to a committee of investigation composed of John J. Score, Thomas Lynch and L. J. Meaney, who will report at next meeting, when it is probable that the members of the County Board will be present to hear the discussion. Vice President Thomas J. Lynch handled in the applications of John McHugh, R. J. Ford, John Purcell, C. S. Ryder and Michael Moriarty, and Cor. O'Leary was obligated by President Hennessy. Michael Welsh was called upon for a short talk and told some memorable stories that kept the members in an uproar, and also stated that he would prepare a speech for the debate at the next meeting on September 11.

FATHER M'LUUGH LEAVES.

Rev. Father James A. McHugh, O. P., who has been spending his vacation visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McHugh, and relatives in this city, left this week for Washington, where he is professor of philosophy and church history at the Dominican House of Studies. Father McHugh is one of St. Xavier's College boys, and has already taken high rank in the Dominican order.

SURPRISE FOR FRIENDS.

The many friends and admirers of Miss Elizabeth Fletcher and Herbert J. Lauscher, a well known and popular member of Mackin Council, will receive as a pleasing surprise the news that their marriage will be solemnized at St. Boniface church on September 21. The bride-elect is a young woman of refined character and a favorite in her social set. Congratulations will be none the less.

IMPRESSIVE

Ceremonies Will Mark Reopening of Historic Old St. Joseph's.

Apostolic Delegate Falconio and Bishop O'Donoghue Will Attend.

Remodeled Under the Direction of Rev. Brother Pius.

SENT OUT MANY ABLE PRIESTS

Historic St. Joseph College, at Bardonia, once the leading educational institution of the West, is to be reopened next month, after having been closed for twenty-two years. A celebration in which the Most Rev. Diomed Falconio, Apostolic Delegate, of Washington, will participate, will mark the opening exercises. The school will be under the direction of the Xaverian Brotherhood, which purchased the property last March from the Diocese of Louisville. Brother Sulpicius, who has been engaged in educational work in Massachusetts, will be Director of the college.

The old building of the college have been thoroughly overhauled, equipped with water, steam heat, electric lights, modern lavatories and fire-fighting apparatus and extensive additions have been made, all under the direction of Rev. Brother Pius, of St. Lawrence Institute, this city. The older of the two structures, known as the administration building, was erected in 1819 and was used first as a seminary and later as a college. The other building, known from its white stucco covering as the "White House," was constructed in 1848. It is to be rechristened "Flaget Hall," in memory of Bishop Flaget. Both of the structures are of brick and comprise three stories high, not including the basements. The administration building is to contain the offices and parlors of the institution on the main floor, and dormitories above. Flaget Hall will have class rooms on the first and top floors with a study hall and library on the middle floor. The grounds of the college comprise forty acres, seven of which will be set aside for athletic sports.

St. Joseph College will open its doors Monday, September 11, when the students will register. The following morning Apostolic Delegate Falconio will arrive in Louisville, escorted by a delegation of Bardonia Knights of Columbus, who will meet him en route, and the members of the party will leave immediately on a special train for Bardonia. From the station there they will proceed in automobiles, headed by a band, to St. Joseph's church, where high mass will be held. There will be a luncheon at 1 o'clock and afterwards the Trappist Monastery, eighteen miles south of Bardonia, Nazareth Academy, the Loretto Academy at Loretto and St. Catherine's Academy at Springfield will be visited in automobiles.

Tuesday night a celebration will be held on the lawn in front of the college buildings, at which addresses will be made by a number of prominent speakers, including the Apostolic Delegate, the Right Rev. Denis O'Donoghue, Bishop of Louisville; the Rev. Father O'Connell, of Bardonia; the Rev. Father Raffo, of Louisville; Congressman Ben Johnson, of Bardonia; and the Rev. Brother Isidore, Provincial of Baltimore. After the speaking the Bardonia Knights of Columbus will give a banquet in the dining rooms of the college. The apostolic train with most of the visitors will return to Louisville after the banquet, but the Apostolic Delegate will remain in Bardonia until the following day, when he will bless the college. The Xaverian Brotherhood will be tendered an invitation to the public to go to Bardonia on the special train and to attend the exercises.

Bishop O'Donoghue attended St. Joseph College, and forty priests now in the diocese of Louisville received their education there. Since the college was closed in 1889 the buildings have remained unoccupied except for a few years when they were used by the St. Thomas Orphan Asylum after the orphanage of that institution, four miles from Bardonia, was burned several years ago.

ORGANIZATION ANNIVERSARY.

Elaborate preparation has been made by Brooklyn Knights for the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the organization of the Knights of Columbus in New York State. The event is made of particular importance on the ground that it was through the establishment of Brooklyn Council the order was introduced throughout the United States and Canada. The celebration of the above mentioned facts will be carried on during the week commencing Sunday, September 10, beginning with solemn musical services at the Church of St. John the Evangelist. For this a special program has been arranged under the direction of Rev. Thomas Dubluge. Tuesday evening an exemplification of the first and second degrees will be held in Prospect Hall, when a class of 150 candidates will be initiated into the order. The exemplification of the third degree will also take place in Prospect Hall.

The celebration ceremonies will close with a banquet at the Hotel Jefferson, Coney Island, Saturday evening.

LAID TO REST.

Lovely Young Girl Victim of Dread Typhoid Fever.

The announcement of the death of Miss Mary Joseph McKenna, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McKenna, of Fairfield, Nelson county, which was received in Louisville on Tuesday afternoon, shortly after her demise, came as a great shock to the friends of the family, who have hosts of friends in Louisville and throughout Kentucky. Miss McKenna died of typhoid fever after several weeks' illness. Beside her parents she is survived by a brother, Dr. Henry McKenna, who has been in New York City, an interne at one of the leading hospitals, and by two sisters, Misses Margaret and Elizabeth McKenna. Miss Mary Joseph McKenna was a lovely young girl, of sunny disposition. She was the idol of her parents and of her grandparents. She was a member of the McKennas at Fairfield. She had been a student at Nazareth during the past two years, and would have graduated next year had she lived. Her parents and other relatives have the sympathy of a large number of friends throughout the State. The funeral of Miss McKenna took place Thursday and the interment was in St. Louis cemetery.

HOME AGAIN.

Rev. Father M. O'Connor Brings Relic of St. Patrick.

The good people of St. Michael's parish and the city are glad to welcome home the Rev. Martin O'Connor, who has been spending the summer in Ireland. Father O'Connor brought with him a relic of St. Patrick, the only one in this country, which will be enshrined in St. Michael's church, and which he values only next to a relic of the true cross. This relic has lain in the dust for over 1,400 years, but papers from Rome testify to its being a bone of Ireland's patron saint. Father O'Connor will officiate at both masses tomorrow, and will have a sermon of unusual interest for his people.

REALISTIC

Will Be Chicago's Pageant Depicting Columbus' Landing.

A pageant depicting the landing of Columbus will be given under the direction of the Chicago Knights of Columbus October 12, who will celebrate the anniversary of the landing of the Genoese explorer in 1492. The landing of the great discoverer will be the real thing. For the first time the models Nina and Santa Maria, which now adorn Jackson Park, will be placed in the water and sailed by millionaires yachtsmen into an imaginary San Salvador. A moving picture concern has agreed to repair the models so as to make them seaworthy, and to cover them with yellow canvas that they may appear as the real Isabella vessels. A corps of eight seamen have been engaged and are now at work putting the three craft in seaworthy condition.

CANDIDATES FOR PRIESTHOOD.

Dan Walsh, Jr., and James Rouck, two well known and highly esteemed young men of New Albany, will next week enter St. Mary's College to begin their studies for the priesthood. After their preparatory studies they will enter St. Meinrad's Seminary at St. Meinrad, Ind., and will be attached to the Indianapolis diocese. The former is the son of Dan Walsh, Deputy Oil Inspector for Indiana, and has for some time past been doing newspaper work, while the latter has been a popular member of the faculty of the New Albany Business College. A legion of friends will wish both may realize their highest hopes and succeed in their holy vocation.

FOR WORTHY CAUSE.

The Altar Society of the Cathedral parish will give a euchre next Thursday afternoon and evening at the Catholic Woman's Club, 615 West Walnut street, the afternoon euchre to be called at 2:30 o'clock and the evening euchre at 8. The committee of ladies in charge have secured many handsome prizes for the euchre and in addition will have many beautiful articles for sale. The proceeds derived will be used in securing a new stained glass window for the Cathedral, and the various other socials are lending a helping hand to aid the ladies in their worthy cause.

TOURING THROUGH IRELAND.

The Kentucky Irish Americans received letters this week from Owen P. Canty, former Grand Secretary of the Y. M. I., who is at present visiting in Ireland. He wrote from Dublin, where he was much taken by the grand Parliament Houses, now the bank of Ireland, in which it is hoped the Irish Parliament will again be called to meet. Mr. Canty will make a tour to all important points in the Emerald Isle before returning.

AS IT IS.

The Final Fight For Ireland's Freedom Is Now Near at Hand.

Only Serious Opposition Will Come From the Ignoble Factionists.

Irish Leaders to Educate English People on Home Rule.

O'BRIEN AND HEALY SCORED

The Dundalk Democrat, one of the ablest and most reliable papers in Ireland, in a review of the political situation and the course of William O'Brien and Tim Healy, asserts that the final fight for Ireland's freedom must be fought, not at home, but in the English constituencies during the next year or two. The Irish members of Parliament during the time the home rule bill will be in course of transit ought to be free to devote the entire of their time and attention to educating the English people as to what home rule is, and countering the campaign which will certainly be entered upon by Orange emissaries in England to poison the electorate there. As the danger, however, in Ireland it will be necessary at the same time to devote some attention to the campaign which will certainly be made by factionists at home to instill poison of a slightly different character into the Nationalist body, in the hope of creating, diversion which may perhaps give strength to the opponents of home rule. Nobody doubts that his attempt will be made by the factionists. They have been steadily working up to it for some time. Whatever the form of home rule may be that will be offered us, it will inevitably be assailed with vicious criticism by the factionists, who will endeavor to convince Irishmen that it is a vicious and worthless thing because they themselves have chosen to prophesy that it would be. It will be necessary to pay some attention to these gentlemen.

It is a mistake to allow Messrs. O'Brien and Healy to pour venom into Irish ears without supplying the antidote. Experience has shown that constant repetition of any statement unchallenged by contradiction will result in that statement being swallowed by a certain number of gullible people. O'Brien has for some considerable time, for instance, been prophesying the failure of the attack upon the House of Lords. He has denounced it as a "crazy and insane," "ridiculous and impossible," "beyond the pale of practical politics," and so on. He has predicted over and over again in speeches and writings that the Lords would win and that "Redmond and his idiotic adherents" would be swept out of political existence in the failure of their hopeless attempt to destroy the one obstacle in the way of home rule. These prophecies of O'Brien have failed; but their failure will not prevent his credulous supporters from swallowing predictions quite as "crazy and insane." Furthermore there is danger that a gentleman who indulges in prophecies will strain every nerve to make his prophecies come true. O'Brien certainly gave no help in the attack upon the Lords, which despite his prophecy has succeeded. He may be relied on to give no help to the home rule bill, for in his preconceived opinion no possible good can come from either the Irish party or the Liberals. Has he not said that he can give no help to the home rule bill by combining all parties in favor of it?

The pet subject of the Seer of Malloy for two years past has been the so-called break-down of land purchase, consequent on the Birrell act of 1909. He aired his grievances under this head in the House of Commons by declaring that act to be "the biggest failure and crime in the history of English government in Ireland." So long as O'Brien made these statements in Cork they escaped notice or at least contradiction; but his ventilation of this grievance in Parliament enabled Birrell to show that the act of 1909 did not stop land purchase at all, that its chief effect was to relieve the Irish taxpayer of the liability imposed on him by the act of 1903 to make good all the loss on the flotation of land stock, amounting to many millions sterling. The fact is that the finance of the 1903 act, of which Healy used to speak in terms of such extravagant praise, completely broke down, and if all the land of Ireland had been purchased under that act, no relief been given under the Birrell act, the country would have been by this time in a condition of hopeless and inextricable bankruptcy. Its people in town and country would have been liable for millions of money lost by the Treasury in floating stock that the public could not be got to take at par. So far from land purchase having broken down, the five millions a year, which Wyndham expected would be needed to finance it, have grown to eight millions a year; and in this very year the Treasury has been called upon for the greatest amount ever asked for this purpose. The act of 1903, whatever its shortcomings, relieved the Irish taxpayer. It provided for the compulsory acquisition of land in congested districts—the real crux—

POLITICS.

O'Rear's Campaign Thus Far Discouraging to the Republicans.

Gov. Willson, Senator Bradley and Federal Employees Not Interested.

Bradley and O'Rear Rumored Very Much Split Over Harris Candidacy.

REPUBLICANS QUIT IN DISGUST

Republican politicians from all over the State are already beginning to concede the defeat of O'Rear for Governor and his whole ticket, all realizing that a mistake was made in turning down Cox and Franka for O'Rear and his narrow-minded ideas on night-riding and prohibition. As proof of this, look at the local situation. Not enough white Republicans can be secured to nominate a ticket in full for the Legislative and municipal offices, and then compare this with the situation of two years ago, when the Fusionists and old-line Republicans were at each other's throat for the nominations on the Log Cabin ticket. It also shows the caliber of these Fusionists and good-guys citizens when it comes to seeking non-salaried offices. They can always be found wanting to work for the good of the community and elevate the morals of the citizens when there is a good fat salary attached to the office they are seeking.

Judge O'Rear seems to be playing a lone hand in his canvass for gubernatorial honors, the old guard, like Gov. Willson, Senator Bradley, Lieut. Gov. Cox and Dr. Bruner being noticeably absent from the firing line. Gov. Willson's contribution to O'Rear's campaign consisting of canvassing the different golf grounds. The large number of Federal Revenue employees in this State are also vying with each other as to who can do the least for the Republican ticket, they knowing that O'Rear's drastic prohibition measures, driving the distillers and brewers out of the State, would also drive them out of fat positions, they working under the good old adage of "self-preservation is the first law of nature." Along with the other narrow planks of his platform O'Rear is now insulting the voters to their very faces, telling them from the stump that 70,000 of them are for sale, these speeches filling his advisers with consternation.

Both Democrats and Republicans are watching the outcome of the fight on the question of Robert Harris aspiring for the Legislative nomination from the Eighth and Ninth wards on the Republican ticket. Before his nomination Judge O'Rear stated in a speech, of which there are several stenographic copies in existence, that Harris would not run on the G. O. P. ticket, and now comes Senator Bradley, who is Harris' friend, and says that he shall. The Post and the Herald are both very quiet on this important question, while Harris and his friends just dare the Post's friends on the Republican City and County Committee to throw him down.

This coming week the local Democratic Committee will perfect arrangements for the nomination of the local ticket and will probably in-dorse both boards of the General Council with a renomination, only a few vacancies to be filled. As tipped in these columns a few weeks ago, Thomas Dolan will be named to succeed Don Sand as Councilman from the Third ward, and if there is a vacancy in the upper board the host of friends of Dr. H. E. McHugh, the former Y. M. C. A. instructor and now President of the Swiss Cleaning Company, are going to make an effort to land it for him. Dr. McHugh served as an Alderman during the Bingham administration, was a member of the Board of Education, and would be a strong candidate on the Democratic ticket. James Charles has made a runaway race for the nomination to succeed Bingham and is sure to be a winner in November. More announcements are expected in the Legislative races, the sure nominee at this stage seeming to be Samuel Robertson, Charles Knight, Peter Lee Atkerson and William A. Perry.

DIED AWAY FROM HOME.

Though not altogether unexpected, news of the death of Arthur Heinzelman at Danville, Ill., last Sunday came as a shock to his many friends and relatives in this city, where he spent his boyhood. Deceased suffered a stroke of paralysis, which despite all care and skill proved fatal. He was thirty-two years of age and was employed as a machinist. Surviving him are his mother, Mrs. Julia Heinzelman, 2621 South Fifth street; two sisters and a brother, Policeman John Heinzelman, who was at the bedside when the end came. The remains were brought here and the funeral held Tuesday afternoon from Holy Name church, Rev. Father O'Connor conducting the solemn obsequies.

CHAPEL FOR SOLDIERS.

The Catholics of San Antonio, Texas, have donated a new chapel to the army for the use of the soldiers stationed at Fort San Houston, Texas.

and it would have introduced compulsion against the landlords who would not sell at fair prices had not O'Brien's noble friends in the House of Lords destroyed these clauses.

ANNIVERSARY.

Mackin Council Prepares For Two-Day Celebration.

Mackin Council, Y. M. I., will celebrate its eighteenth anniversary with an elaborate two days' programme, beginning Sunday, September 10. The arrangements have been perfected by a committee composed of Messrs. George J. Lantz, Councilman Ben Sand, Joseph Steltenpohl, A. C. Link, Patrick Duddy, Henry Kerberg and W. A. Link, and are perfect in every detail. Sunday morning the 500 members will attend high mass and approach holy communion in a body. In the afternoon the members will meet at the club house and march to St. Cecilia's church, where solemn vespers will be sung at 3 o'clock. Following the vespers service there will be a reunion at Mackin's club house, to which all members of the Y. M. I. are cordially invited. Here there will be an abundance of refreshments and a merry time is assured for all who are present.

On Monday night there will be a complimentary reception and dance at the club house for the members of Mackin Council and their lady friends. Cards of admission, for which there are no charges, may be secured from Chairman Lantz or Secretary A. C. Link, 503 West Main street. The committee will provide refreshments and look after the comfort of all who attend.

MAMMOTH CAVE

Excursion to Historic Spot by Trinity Council, Y. M. I.

All arrangements have been completed for Trinity Council's excursion to Mammoth Cave tomorrow and a large crowd from this city is expected to take advantage of this opportunity to visit one of the wonders of the world. Mammoth Cave is truly named, with its great auditoriums of lofty ceilings, dome hundreds of feet high, the sides formed of tier after tier of fluted columns, balanced rocks and hanging rocks; mighty crevices of clefts as if made by earthquakes, barren underground streams, and the Echo river, fifteen to forty feet wide, on which a good sized flat-boat transports tourists for a distance of half a mile or so. Here the slightest noise is intensified a thousand times and certain tones sounded by the guides resemble the deep, rich notes of a pipe organ. The train will leave Tenth and Broadway tomorrow morning at 8:45 and will reach Louisville on the return trip at 10 p. m. A rate of $5.50 round trip is made, which will include railroad fare, dinner and cave fee.

The committee has secured the services of John J. Barry, of the New Haven Echo, who will go with them and help look after the comfort of their guests. Mr. Barry goes to the Cave many times during each season in charge of parties and is thoroughly familiar with the trip, and the committee is to be congratulated on securing his services.

GOOD NEWS.

The Holy Father is Again Able to Receive Visitors.

The news from Rome this week regarding the health of Pope Pius X. is most welcome and brings relief to the entire Catholic world. The Holy Father has so far recovered that he is again able to receive mass. Monday morning Pope Pius received in audience Cardinal Seraphin Vanutelli and also the most Rev. Martin Tritschler Cordova, Archbishop of Yucatan.

Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, who delayed his vacation during the illness of the Pope, went to Montemarlo, where he will stay at the Villa Blumenthal for the remainder of the summer.

All the dispatches are of one tenor and lead to the belief that the Pope's health will be fully restored.

TABLET TO DONGAN.

Invitations have been extended to State and city officials to attend the unveiling of a tablet on the outside of St. Peter Catholic church, on Barclay and Church streets, New York City, to the memory of Col. Thomas Dongan, first Governor of New York. The unveiling will take place on October 2 and will be a civic ceremony in charge of the New York Knights of Columbus. Col. Dongan was a Catholic and was appointed Governor by James II.

INVITATION ACCEPTED.

Dr. P. S. Ganz, one of the Kentucky delegates to the American Federation of Catholic Societies convention at Columbus, Ohio, and who was also present at the sessions of the Catholic editors and publishers, tendered an invitation to the editors to hold their next meeting and be entertained simultaneously with the Federation. The invitation was accepted and will bring to Louisville many noted writers from all parts of the United States.

SUNDAY NOISES.

There is a growing feeling, and with good reason, of indignation against the ever increasing noises on all sides in our city on Sunday mornings. That they could be greatly reduced all will concede and without trouble or interference with anyone. Particularly annoying are these noises on Fourth street, Broadway and other thoroughfares upon which many churches are located. Scarcely a Sunday morning passes in which the church services are not interrupted by passing carts, wagons and cars, which at these points make more noise than anywhere else and render it almost impossible to hear the sermons or even the choir. Without any trouble whatever this could all be obviated. When passing churches and hospitals especially care should be taken to do so quietly, and thus mitigate the nuisance, for nuisance it is. The local press might well call attention to this matter, and if that does not suffice the police should be called upon to protect the people while at divine worship.

FOR YOUNG MEN.

For years there has been much talk, with little action, concerning the welfare of our Catholic young men. Consideration has been given the subject by both the clergy and laity and resolutions have been passed by numerous conventions, and thus it stands today. To all is apparent the necessity for an organization for our Catholic youth on lines similar to the Young Men's Christian Association, which has been of untold benefit to its members. And therefore the Kentucky Irish American would call attention to the Young Men's Institute, that has been fostered and directed by Archbishops Riordan, Ireland, Elder and Moeller, and today looks up to the Right Rev. Denis O'Donoghue, Bishop of Louisville, as its Supreme Chaplain. Founded over twenty-five years ago, the Y. M. I. has worked steadily and successfully for the moral, social and intellectual uplift of the Catholic young man, and the evidence is to be found in every community in which the society has been encouraged.

True it is that there are many societies of young men, but it must be remembered they are disconnected and without unity of purpose, each standing alone and soon passing away.

Therefore we suggest to men interested in safeguarding the Catholic young man a full investigation of the Y. M. I., which has a foundation ready for the building of one of the greatest and most beneficial Catholic institutions the world has ever known. Come to Louisville and see the homes of Mackin and Trinity Councils. Learn what this society is doing in Indiana, Illinois, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania and other States, and we feel sure that it will be found what has been sought for and all that could be desired. The Kentucky Irish American would call the attention of the Catholic press to this subject, and trusts they will give it that consideration and publicity which it deserves. There should be Y. M. I. councils in every Catholic community in the United States.

LAUGH ON LORDS.

London cablegrams of the past week bring some amusing though not altogether reliable information, which puts the laugh on the British House of Lords. The claim has been made that no new Peers would have been created even if the Lords had failed to pass the veto bill, and continues: "Now that the Government has triumphed in its measure to curb the power of the Lords, and now that sufficient time has elapsed to allow a keen analysis of the position taken by the opposition and the Government in the great veto bill fight, England is enjoying the discomfiture of the Lords with great gusto."

This surprising statement was based upon the following: "The fact that while the ancient constitution of England has been hauled about between the warring parties, the Parliament bill and its threat of 'Blackleg Peers' was extremely laughable, for time has reversed the giant's game of bluff in which the Government played its cards down the throat of the Lords."

aristocracy. Whether the bill stood or fell there would have been no 'Blackleg Peers.' Had the Lords refused the bill it is believed that the King, seeking an easy and graceful manner of evading the Government's prediction of a wholesale addition to the Peersage, would have instructed his Ministers to make attempts to bring about the same ends through channels less offensive to their Lordships; perhaps refusing outright to flood the Peersage, and in any event delaying his action till every other means had been exhausted. So it seems that the great body of England's nobility has had all its worry for nothing, and that bluff, almost American in its intensity, has won."

IGNORANT SCOFFERS.

While those who know no better scoff at the confessional, the fact still remains that it is the greatest safeguard of virtue that ever existed in the world. In the confessional man is voluntarily his own accuser before an omniscient, just and merciful Judge. There the sound of his own voice whispering his transgressions in the ear of God's representative must awaken humiliation in the depths of his soul and with it a deep seated resolve to sin no more. The thought of having to testify against one's self in the tribunal of penance is a restraint to waywardness second only to the restraining power of the grace which God gives those who in this way profess before men their belief in Him and in the efficiency of his sacraments.

Parents who have in mind the selection of an academy or college for their girls and boys should by all means consider those advertised in the columns of this paper. The equipment of these institutions is ideal in every respect, while the student life is of such a nature that the real man and woman develops in their environment.

The consensus of opinion among New York builders is that St. Patrick's Cathedral is one of the very few structures that may be standing 1,000 years hence. All of the rest of New York as it stands today will be gone.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians will tomorrow display in their halls the flags of Germany and Ireland in honor of German day. This is carrying out the movement inaugurated two years ago by the German National Alliance and the Ancient Order.

In an item about golf Thursday in the Evening Post the public were told what a "good fellow" Dan E. O'Sullivan was. This proves that Dan is a regular contributor to the Post columns.

The Census Bureau has given out the statement that Bloomington, Ind., is now the center of population in the United States.

Enthusiasm means life, and what is there that should create greater enthusiasm than the fact that you are a Catholic?

If you quit studying when you leave school you are certain to be an ignoramus. That is just the time to begin.

Even the Post is finding it a hard matter to work up any enthusiasm for O'Rear and prohibition.

The Catholic school is the only safe school for the Catholic youth.

MACKIN COUNCIL.

Largely Attended and Spirited Meeting Monday Night.

Mackin Council met Monday night with an unusually large number of members present. President Robertson occupied the chair and there was not a dull moment from the opening till the close. The Visiting Committee reported Conrad Schaefer, George Knutner, Raymond Riddle and Clyde Graven, who are on the sick list, as nearing recovery.

Joseph J. Hancock aroused much enthusiasm when he reported the results of the Niagara Falls excursion, which were most satisfactory. He also stated that there were four other similar excursions this season, but that one-third of all the people who visited the Falls accompanied the Mackin Council party.

Two new members were elected and one obligated, and it is expected many additions will be made to the steadily large class awaiting initiation early in the fall. In response to an invitation from the Catholic Woman's Club the council tendered the services of its members for the bazaar to be held in the near future. During the session there was an address on the Y. M. I. which brought out points that were warmly applauded.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Late News That Will Interest Members Here and Elsewhere.

There will be a fourth degree exemplification at Nashville on Columbus day.

With the election of officers of local councils changed from December to October, a renewed interest everywhere in the work of the order can now be expected.

Because councils that have been dormant for some time will initiate large classes and many new ones are being formed, the outlook for the year looks very promising.

Little Rock Council has appointed Dr. Vincent Fallis, formerly of Louisville, member of a committee to purchase what is needed for a room in St. Joseph's Infirmary that is to be furnished by the council.

The Indiana Catholic makes a strong plea for a general observance of the first Columbus day in that State.

The Knights of Indianapolis have started well by inviting United States Senator O'Gorman, of New York, to be the orator there on October 12.

CARNIVAL.

Will Close Columbia Athletic Club Open Air Season.

A grand open air carnival and vaudeville entertainment will be conducted by the Columbia Athletic Club on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week on the club grounds, 1218 Logan street, between Oak and Rupp. This organization has members from all sections of the city and is constantly growing in strength. The committees have arranged for a change of programme and special features each night, and headliners on the bill will be Little Alene Ducker, the child wonder, and Ben Speaker and Jacob Graft, who will render old-time plantation melodies. All who would spend a really pleasant evening should visit the carnival on at least one night.

HEARTS UNITED.

Mrs. B. Gerst announces the marriage of her daughter, Ella E. Gerst, to Matt P. Corcoran, Jr. The wedding was quietly solemnized Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock at St. Anthony's church. Both bride and groom have a wide circle of friends who extend congratulations for a long life of wedded bliss.

HONORS PRIEST EDITOR.

The Southern Guardian, of Little Rock, gladly notes the following well merited honor conferred on Right Rev. Monsignor Lucy, its able and fearless editor: "One of the last acts of the late Gen. G. W. Gordon, Commander-in-Chief of the Confederate Veterans, before his death was to appoint Right Rev. Monsignor J. M. Lucy, of Pine Bluff, as Assistant Chaplain General of the Confederate Veterans."

GRAND GIFT.

Archbishop Ireland, at the close of the annual four-day retreat of the Catholic priests of the diocese at the St. Paul Seminary last week, was the recipient of $100,000 pledged by the 260 priests of the archdiocese. The Rev. Thomas J. Gibbons, of St. Luke's church, made the presentation speech to the Archbishop, offering him this amount as a token of the "esteem, love and reverence" in which he is held by his associates.

SURPRISE FRIENDS.

Many friends of Miss Susanne Corrigan, daughter of Mrs. Frank Corrigan, 1908 High street, and W. H. Batesau, two of the most popular and well known young people of the West End, were given a pleasant surprise when news was received of their marriage Saturday at Cincinnati, the ceremony being performed in St. Xavier's church. CARDINAL GIBBONS FAVORED.

The recent illness and alarm felt for the life of Pope Pius X. started a discussion in Rome over his possible successor, in which the opinion has been expressed that as no European could be chosen without arousing unpleasant jealousies, the selection must take place outside the old continent. Now that Cardinal Rampalo, the only alternative to Cardinal Albino Cardinal, Archbishop of Rio Janeiro, who by the way is staying at the same monastery at Einselden as Cardinal Rampallo, or Cardinal Gibbons, the Archbishop of Baltimore. If the idea of having a foreign Pope prevails, the probabilities for Cardinal Gibbons are almost equal to a certainty, as he enjoys the respect and admiration of the whole Sacred College, which is especially taken by his wisdom so abundantly displayed in the last conciliar, when he was one of the chief electors of the present Pontiff.

AWAKENED.

Health Department Makes
Startling Cold Storage
Discoveries.

The people of Louisville are at last being awakened to the danger that threaten them from impure foodstuffs that unprincipled dealers would sell them without regard to the injury to health and life that would follow their use. For this the city administration and its health department deserve commendation,
as it is due to their care and watchfulness that the startling disclosures have been made. About 12,000 pounds of fish consigned to Louisville firms and kept in one of the local ice storage plants was declared unfit for use by inspectors of the Health department and ordered destroyed by Judge Gocke in Police Court, where the eight cases were presented without any of the defendants appearing in court. Nearly 8,000 pounds of the fish had been consigned by Booth & Company. The remainder was consigned to the Pennsylvania railroad, Adams Express Company and William Kelper.
Some of the fish had been in storage since 1908. Dr. Kurk declared that he had examined samples of the fish in the laboratory and found that it was decomposed and unfit for use.

RECENT DEATHS.

The funeral of Charles A. Flood, whose death shocked his friends,
took place Sunday afternoon from St. Cecilia's church, Rev. Father Brady officiating at the solemn obsequies. The deceased was thirty-five years of age, but for some time had been dependent on his ill-health, and this it is thought affected his mind.

The funeral of Edward Meyer, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Louisville, Ind., and well known in Louisville, took place last Friday at St. Mary's church in Louisville, where he resided for the past fifteen years. Deceased was the father of J. Henry Meyer, the assistant manager of the Louisville Glaubeubote.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Mary Gagen, the aged mother of Peter James Gagen, were held Tuesday morning at St. Louis Bertrand's church. Mrs. Gagen's death was the second one in a week in the family, following that of Mrs. Sophie Sweeney, who died of peritonitis.
Also surviving her are one daughter,
Miss Catherine Gagen, and Stephen
Gagen, both of this city.

The body of Miss Mary Cunningham, who died at the residence of her aunt, Mrs. M. V. Armstrong, 3107 Blumark avenue, was taken to St. Charles church Monday morning, and there at a solemn requiem mass celebrated by the Rev. Father Raffo received the last blessing of the church. For a year the deceased was a patient sufferer, and the belief that she was to soon again see her father and mother, the late Thomas and Mary Cunningham, was sufficient to make her last hours peaceful and happy. She is survived by one brother, William Cunningham.

Mrs. Bridget Donahue, aged seventy, died Sunday night at her home, 511 South Thirteenth street, after an illness of eighteen months. Mrs.
Donahue was born in Ireland and came to Louisville at the age of sixteen. Of an estimable character, she was widely known in connection with her church work, having been a member of the St. Patrick's church for fifty-four years. She was the mother-in-law of P. T. McCrory, and land.

Places.

SCENERY IS QUITE DIVERSIFIED

Waterford is one of the most southern counties in Ireland. The Atlantic ocean stretches along its entire southern boundary. To the north is Kilkenny and Tipperary, while on the west is Cork and to the east is Wexford. The county is fifty miles long and twenty-two miles broad and has an area of 721 square miles. The population is in the neighborhood of 112,000. A broad district, extending east and west,
from near Portlaw to Macollop, is almost uninterruptedly mountainous;
in the middle this mountain chain stretches across almost the entire county from Clonmel to Dungarvan.
That large part of the county lying south and east of this highland tract is a mixture of gentle hills and dales.

For the most part the coast line of Waterford is rocky, inhospitable and dangerous. Several sandy bays and stretches of sandy coast interrupt the rocky margin; but the coast is, on the whole, not much indented by bays and harbors. Waterford harbor separates Waterford from Wexford.
Off this is Dunmore Bay, with cliffs pierced by numerous caves. Waterford is well watered by rivers and streams. Among them are the Blackwater, the Tourig, the Owheg, the Bride, the Glenmore, the Owen-nash and the Glenshelane rivers.
Bally Lough, about half a mile long, lies between Waterford harbor and Tramore Bay. It is the largest of many lakes in the county. Coun-shingaun, one of the grandest lakes in Ireland, lies in a chasm on the side of the highest part of the Comeragh mountains. On one side of the lake is a wall of rock 1,000 feet high. The two Comeragh Loughs and Crotty's Lough are quite close at hand.

Waterford is rich in minerals and the copper mines of Knockmahon, at the mouth of Mahon, were worked long and successfully. They were very productive, but English laws long ago forced the abandonment of work on the mines. When Ireland gets home rule there is no doubt that the mines will be reopened.

Waterford, in which the county takes its name, is the largest town,
and is noted for its beautiful quay.
It has a population of 20,000. Other thriving little towns in the county are Dunmore, Carrickbeg, Passage
East, Cappoquin, Tallow, Lismore, Dungarvan, Kilmacthomas and Tra-more. Lismore is situated in the middle of a sandy and beautiful scenery, with Lismore Castle beside it, on the top of a cliff over the Blackwater. It has a population of 1,800. The town dates its origin from a monastery founded there in the sixth century by St. Carthach, and it became one of Ireland's most important religious centers. On the slope of the mountains over Cappoquin is the famous abbey of the Trappists, Mount Melleray.

Waterford formed a part of the ancient sub-kingdom of Ormond. The country of the southern Desl anciently included nearly the whole county of Waterford, as it extended from Lismore to Creden Head, and from the Suir southward to the sea.
Its name is now preserved by the two baronies of Decies. Only a short time ago Lord Decies, an Irish peer, married a daughter of the Gould family in New York.

One of the splendid show places of Ireland is the magnificent demese of Curraghmore. It covers nearly 5,000 acres of ground and to the sea.
It is now preserved by the two baronies of Decies. The mansion on the demesne was erected in the year 1700 on the site of an ancient castle of the Ormonds.

Lismore, which in English means the "great fort," was one of the most noted seats of learning in Ireland when that island was the great school for all Europe. It was there that Alfred the Great, King of England, was educated. The principal feature of the place today is the castle, which stands on the site of a famous university. The old castle still stands on the bank of the Blackwater, and is at present owned by the Duke of Devonshire.

WEATHER IN GERMANY.

Berlin is stewing in a sauce of heat. The Kaiser has taken to the yacht, the poorer classes to the roofs and the bourgeoisie to the hills. The drought is the longest and the weather the hottest that has enveloped that city in seventy-seven years.
Everywhere the suffering is intense.
Streets of molten asphalt, trees burnt to a cinder, and long rows of sun-baked, red-bricked dwelling houses radiating and intensifying the carcasses of the sun bring the thermometer registrations up to the 100 mark and past daily, and make life in the city almost unbearable as a residence. A crop failure seems imminent. Even the fertile valley of the Rhine has been stricken and in the outlying districts Government returns report damage to the extent of many millions of marks.

RETREAT ENDS THIS EVENING.

The retreat which opened Monday at St. Boniface Convent for members of the Franciscan order will close this evening. Father Edmond Klein, O. F. M., conducted the retreat, which was attended by twenty-eight priests and brothers.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

State Secretary Foley reports that a number of new divisions will be established in Indiana this fall.

The regular meeting of Division 3 will be held Monday night, when the proceedings promise to be interesting.

The Hibernians of Pueblo, Col., are looking forward to the visit of National President Regan in the near future.

Members of Division 1 are urged to attend the meeting Tuesday night at Falls City Hall. The business will be important.

A feature of the Hibernian field day at Boston next Monday will be the prize drill between several crack military companies.

The "Hibernian" muster will be the big attraction at the field day and athletic carnival of Division 19 of Waltham, Mass., on Labor day.

Division 2 may decide its new quarters at the meeting Wednesday night. President Ford wants every member present to aid in the selection.

The Ladies' Auxiliary expects a big turnout of members Wednesday night. There will be something doing pleasing to all and for the good of the order.

With pipers, dancers, baseball, field sports and other thrills the Hibernians of Terre Haute made a brilliant success last week of their first annual Irish day.

Besides the ball game, picnic dinner, music by two bands and a reception and dancing there was a big balloon ascension at the Hibernian celebration Wednesday at Fort Wayne, Ind.

President D. J. Coleman has called a meeting of the County Board for next Friday night at Bertrand Hall, when it is expected a complete report of the Riverview Park celebration will be made.

In Boston it is reported that over 500 candidates will receive the several degrees at Faneuil Hall on Sunday, October 15, when the monster class from the Suffolk County Auxiliaries will be present.

Waltham, Cambridge, Lynn, Newton and Lowell, Mass., will have Hibernian buildings before many months. Brockton, Marlboro, Worcester, Springfield, Lawrence and Quincy already own handsome buildings devoted to the needs of the Ancient Order.

Though Connecticut is one of the smallest States in the Union geographically, it has the distinction of being the fourth largest in point of membership. The State Board will make an active campaign during October, and may have the greatest Empire State, which should lead all the States in membership.

Montreal Hibernians are congratulating themselves on the appointment of Rev. R. E. Callahan to the position of County Chaplain of the order. It was to the efforts of Father Callahan that was largely due the successful issue of the controversy which arose owing to the removal of the monument to the ship fever victims.

Replying to the communication of Mrs. P. H. McNells, of Indianapolis, and the Hibernian Committee on Irish History, Rev. Father John O'Connell, of St. Augustine's church in Jeffersonville, gave the welcome information that "Irish history had been taught for the past two years in the parochial schools of Jeffersonville." Good for Father O'Connell and the Hibernians of our sister city.

AVENUE THEATRE.

With Morton Shaw as its manager, the Avenue Theatre opens its season tomorrow with the "Denver Express," an exciting melodrama, presented by a company of carefully selected players. The play has been equipped with an excellent series of new scenes, and the grand hall at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, provides a society element that entirely removes the suspicion that this is a wild and woolly Western drama. The return of the Avenue to the melodramatic field is but going back to its policy of several seasons ago. The theatre has been thoroughly renovated and looks as bright as a new pin, and from the great amount of advance interest which has been shown in its opening the coming winter should see things booming. Popular prices will prevail, ranging from ten to fifty cents at night and ten to twenty-five cents for matinees.

INJURED ON TRESTLE.

Patrick J. Newman, fifty years of age, night watchman for the Byrne & Speed Coal Company and well known in the West End, sustained serious injuries Monday night as the result of a fall from the high trestle at Floyd street and the river. When the 12 o'clock ring failed to come in from the coal company's property the Western Union Telegraph Company sent Robert Schneider, a special policeman, to the place to see what the trouble was. Schneider found the unconscious form of Newman lying on a slight elevation near the river bank. He was badly bruised and cut. The unfortunate man was at once removed to his home, 624 North Twenty-seventh street, where he received medical attention and is recovering from his injuries.

ENLARGING.

Another story is being added to St. Catherine's parochial school at New Haven and other improvements made. A two-story porch on each side will greatly improve the appearance of the building.

A Miraculous Medicine 7 Mrs. Kath. Hilditch, 17, 1910:—I was a total wreck; had an attack of apoplexy and was over 6 months helpless—could not eat nor sleep. Any trifling matter made me nervous; I would cry and had a desire to be alone. Have taken 6 bottles of Koenig's Nerve Tonic, and I can now sleep and have a good appetite and feel so well that I can do my day's work. I am very much pleased with the Tonic and will recommend it wherever I can. "I am happy and healthy," writes Mrs. E. McCabe, 111, 335 Washington St., Sept. 1, 1910. "She suffered from Nervousness and Catarrh, but few bottles of Koenig's Nerve Tonic cured her." Mrs. Dan Leach writes from Coryville, Kas., Jan. 27, 1909:—Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic did my daughter more good than all the doctors. A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases and a Sample Bottle to any address. Poor patients also get the medicine free. Prepared by the Rev. Father Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and now by the Koenig Med. Co., Chicago, Ill. 109 Lake Street. Sold by Druggists at $1 per Bottle, 6 for $5. Large Size, $1.75; 6 Bottles for $9.

MOTION PICTURES.

Some unusual pictures will be shown at the Casino and Orpheum next week. The pictures will be in thorough keeping with those which have been presented during the past month, and which have been unexcelled by any ever exhibited in this city. These houses lead in the production of the newest and most interesting pictures.

FONTAINE FERRY.

The success which has attended Fontaine Ferry this season still continues, and for this reason the vaudeville bill for next week promises to be one of the best of the year. The open air concerts by Gregg's Imperial Band give as much satisfaction as any yet heard here, and will continue until the park closes. Fontaine Ferry is now more popular with the public than ever before in its history.

LABOR DAY PICNIC.

Unity Council, Y. M. I., of New Albany, will give a big picnic at Glenwood Park on Labor day, at which a large attendance is expected. The committees in charge have made extensive arrangements for this event and promise an interesting and enjoyable programme.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

It is said that the coal mine of Kilkenny will soon be worked on a very extensive scale.

The licensed premises of Miss Hannah Manning at Gorey were destroyed by a fire.

It is proposed to add a tower and spire to the Catholic church at Bellaghy, County Derry.

Alderman John McCarthy has been appointed Superintendent of the Kilkenny Labor Exchange.

The people of Navan are much interested in the discovery of what is supposed to be a deposit of alluvial gold.

Genuine regret is felt in Dundalk and County Louth at the announcement of the death of Dr. J. C. Sellars.

Considerable damage was caused by a fire which broke out in the premises of William Calvin, baker and confectioner at Omagh.

The shortage of water supply at Holywood, County Down, has necessitated the limitation of the service to five hours per day—two in the morning and three in the evening.

Paul Knahenshue, American Vice Consul at Belfast, has just been wedded at Holywood parish church to Miss Katherine Olive K. Parr, a member of a well known Holywood family.

Much damage to crops was done in County Sligo owing to the recent thunderstorm and heavy rains, and the River Owenmore as usual is playing havoc with the crops along its banks.

The following have been elected Harbor Commissioners for the Port of Drogheda: Messrs. P. Lyons, W. B. Hill, J. T. Fay, Thomas Callan, L. Moore, P. Reilly, W. Bannon, R. Murdock and P. McIvor.

At the monthly meeting of the Committee of Management of the Killarney District Asylum the Most Rev. Dr. Mangan was unanimously elected Chairman, David Moriarty being elected Vice Chairman.

The news of the death of Patrick Power, of High street, Waterford, has been learned with much regret in that city. The deceased was connected with the wool trade and was well known in the Southeast of Ireland.

Mrs. Kate O'Leary, of Queens-town, has given birth to triplets.

The death occurred at the Presentation Convent, Fermoy, of Mother Mary Frances Hurley in her eighty-eighth year, and the sixty-eighth of her religious life.

While Mrs. Rudden, of Orney, County Fermanagh, was driving to Enniskillen her horse, which was frightened by a motor car, cleared a ditch, throwing Mrs. Rudden out of the car and inflicting injuries which necessitated surgical treatment.

The remains of a man named Michael Sweeney, aged about forty years, were after more than a week's dredging in the deep waters around Cong, picked up in a good state of preservation. Sweeney was for years employed at Lord Ardilaun's saw mills at Cong.

Being unable to obtain the necessary number of farm laborers, some farmers in South Wexford district have been obliged to go to New Ross for them, and besides paying them have to take them into town by cars each evening and go for them in the mornings, a distance of six or seven miles.

TRANSFERRED GAMES.

The Louisville club will play at Toledo again this afternoon and tomorrow. These games, originally scheduled on local grounds, were transferred to Toledo in exchange for the games of September 12, 13 and 14, Louisville then closing her season here instead of September 11. The sport made by the team in the past week has been very pleasing to the fans and awakened interest, which has been shown by the good attendance, the only pity being that if this same game had been played six weeks ago the team would have been a pennant contender. This sort of baseball of trying today and not trying tomorrow leaves a bad taste in the mouth of the fans and Manager Grayson has the sympathy of the club management should distribute a bunch of blue envelopes and hold as a nucleus for next season Hughes, Hearne, Pfeister, Hulswit, Stansbury, Grimshaw, Stanley, Hayden and Lennox if possible. And a popular move would be to make "Judy" Hulswit field captain.

POLICEMEN ON VACATION.

Sergeant Jerry Quill, of the First district, and Stationkeeper John Dolan, two of the stalwarts of the Louisville police force, have been having the best vacation of their lives. Others who are doing likewise are Ambrose Murphy, District Detective John Enright, Lieut. Mike Leamy and George Donnelly, who visited out in the State. All will be on duty next week.

CROWN THEATRE.

The latest addition to Louisville's amusement houses is the Crown Theatre, on Seventh, near Oak street. Just erected, it is one of the most modern, best ventilated and beautiful picture and vaudeville houses south of the Ohio river. It will open with a matinee tomorrow with an attractive programme. The management will cater to the people of that section, presenting shows always instructive and entertaining and without any objectionable feature.
